

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

I pay the charges for my granddaughter's mobile phone while she is in college and she is so very careful to make minimal use of the phone because she knows it is difficult for me to shoulder the added expense. I am a firm believer in user taxes, let the people using the service pay for it and have those of us who carefully try and monitor our useage pay just for what we use.

Sincerely,

Mary Dekle
527 Elizabeth St.
San Francisco, California 94114